Faculty Additions and Replacements for the Current Year Concluded from October Issue

PUBLISHED last month were the names of all of these receiving major appointments to the teaching and administrative staffs of the University with the exception of the five visiting lecturers. Persons on temporary appointment, such as replacements for staff members on leave, are given the title of visiting lecturer regardless of the rank of the individual replaced or the rank held in a previous position. The 1940-41 visitors are:

Dr. W. Thomas Bryan, with degrees from Southwestern Missouri Teachers' College and Yale, who has come from the University of Hawaii, at Honolulu, to exchange places for the year with Dr. E. C. Class of the College of Education.

William H. Roberts, Burning Springs, W. Va., a graduate of Williams College and of the University of Wisconsin, who is teaching Spanish. He has previously taught at Wisconsin and at the Ecole Primaire Superieure, Aix-en-Provence, France.

Mary Gwendolyn Oliver, of Cincinnati: Miss Oliver, with degrees from the University of Cincinnati and Columbia, is a member of the School of Home Economics faculty.

Frederick G. Walsh, Sayre, Pa. Mr. Walsh is associated with the School of Dramatic Art. His degrees were earned at North Carolina

State and the University of North Carolina.

Louis K. Mann, of Placerville, Idaho. He is a graduate of the University of Idaho, and holds his lecturer's appointment in the department of botany.

Agnes L. Eisen, '31, (A.M. '33), who has been a critic teacher for the University in the Athens Township school in Mechanicsburg, has been advanced to staff membership at the University Elementary (Rufus Putnam) School.

Harry M. Lackey, '33, (A.M. '36), coach and director of physical education at Athens High School, has been named critic teacher in the University's teacher training program.

Virginia McVay, '39, who graduated from the School of Library Science of Western Reserve University last June, has been engaged as acting children's librarian of the Edwin Watts Chubb Library.

Resigning for reasons of health, Adelaide Johnson, third grade critic teacher in the University Elementary School, concluded fifteen years of service on the school staff last August. She expects to reside in Pasadena, Calif.

In the accompanying pictures are to be seen several members of the Men's Faculty Club at play. It would not be fair to regard their skills as evidences of "misspent" adolescences, for among these pictured are some of Ohio University's most outstanding classroom teachers and administrators as well as accomplished bridge and pocket billiard players.

To the left, Dr. A. B. Sias, (education), cue in hand, intently watches his opponent, Prof. Raymond M. Slutz, '12, (A.M.), formerly of the English department, execute a difficult shot.

late afternoon bridge session: Dr. Gaige B. Paulsen (psychology), Dr. E. T. Hellebrandt (economics), Prof. C. N. Mackinnon (English), Dr. L. A. Ondis (romance languages), Gifford Blyton (formerly of the speech department), Dr. F. B. Dilley (registrar), and Dr. T. C. Scott (psychology).

Twenty fellows and thirteen graduate assistants have been appointed for 1940-1941. A fellowship carries an annual stipend of $300 with a waiver of the general registration fee and a requirement that one-half time shall be given to teaching or laboratory supervision, or both. A graduate assistantship carries a stipend of $300 with no waiver of registration fees. An assistant must give 20 to 24 hours of service weekly in the department of his major or minor field.

In the following list of fellows, Ohio University alumni are indicated by graduation years; non-Ohioans, by the names of their schools, in parentheses.

Homecoming Crowd Enjoyed Program and Grid Victory But Got Raw Deal from Weather Man

AND it rained, and it rained, and it rained. (This is a summary of the weather for Homecoming Day, October 19).

After four perfect weekends in succession, old Jupiter Pluvius could restrain himself no longer, so he deluged the 1940 homecomers with about as nasty a brand of cold, pneumonia-breeding rain as he could concoct. The worst he had to offer, however, was taken with hardly defiance by a "larger - than - common" crowd of returning alumni, made up largely of grads and former students of the more recent vintages.

The size of the homecoming aggregation was not apparent to the casual eye, but stadium turnstiles, and hotel, dormitory, and fraternity house registers told stories, which in their total significance, were not at all unsatisfactory. Many visitors stayed under cover as long as possible. Some of them left the stadium as early as the end of the first quarter. Most, however, sat rain-drenched to the end to cheer the Bobcats as they took the measure of the Furman Hurricane, a strong Southern conference foe, 15 to 6.

Between the halves, the Ohio University Marching Band, "One Hundred Men and a Girl," staged the most elaborate mid-period show in its brilliant history under the direction of Bandmaster Curtis Janssen. The "girl," Miss Nelle Fester, an Athens junior, is a soprano soloist whose work has added much to the effectiveness of the band's appearances this fall.

The touch of co-ed glamour was magnified a hundred-fold for the Homecoming show, however, when 100 white satin-bloused and blue-skirted young women aided the bandsmen in staging their clever maneuvers.

Proclaiming that "all roads lead to Athens Oct. 19 for Homecoming Day," the band formed a huge outline map of Ohio with the state's largest cities represented by girls holding placards. Streamers were unfurled from the cities—and all lead to Athens.

From the map formation, the band moved into a diamond-shaped alignment encasing a heart formed by the girls. Into the center of the heart marched the band's drum section as Miss Fester, with full accompaniment, sang "Drums in My Heart."

The Band's Four Comely Majorettes Strut Their Stuff

Drills to the "Naughty Waltz" by the flag twirling quartet of drum majorettes and the baton twirling drum majors preceded the presentation of auburn-haired Mary Allen, Asheville, N. C., the 1940 band sponsor. The majorettes, pictured on this page, are, left to right: Gertrude Kissner, Athens; Louise Belden, Xenia; Patricia Post, Lost Creek, W. Va.; and Lucille Ormsby, Steubenville.

To the tune of "A Bicycle Built for Two," the fetching Miss Allen arrived on a tandem bike with Drum Major John Hopkins, Massillon, as her pedalling escort.

Following a fanfare by the band, Varsity "O" President Ray Blickensderfer, Gnadenhutten, introduced five seniors on the football squad. These men, who were participating in their last game in Ohio Stadium, were Ira Livingston, Marshall, Mich.;

Charles Herrell and John Shafer, Ironton; and Jim Snyder and Dan Risaliti, Canton. The seniors stood before a huge green and white "O" and between the Varsity "O" Queens, Bettie Bell, Cleveland, and Arlene Gamertsfelder, Coshocton.

Highlight of the fifteen-minute program for the alumni, however, was the rendition of the band's soul-stirring arrangement, with trumpet quartet, of "Alma Mater, Ohio."

Determined to "rule or ruin" (he came near doing both), the weather man played no favorites and drenched with discouraging impartiality the thousands who gathered on Court Street and the campus to watch the morning's Float Parade, as well as those who congregated in the stadium in the afternoon.

Preceded by the band, a company of ROTC men, and eight carloads of campus bigwigs and beauty queens, sixteen gay floats paraded through the central district in a float contest sponsored by the Men's Union. Alpha Xi Delta's entry was judged the best among the sororities, with Pi Beta Phi having the second-best entry. Among the fraternities, Delta Tau Delta and Phi Kappa Tau, in order, were first and second-place winners. Theta Chi fraternity was awarded first honors in the house decoration contest.

The Women's Athletic Association Carnival in the Men's Gym, which was well attended, was the closing feature of a full, but drippy, Homecoming Day.

Among the carnival attractions were park plan dancing, to the music of Rex Keons [35] and his Commodores, and sorority-sponsored booths in which were many and ingenious schemes for wangling small change from the pockets of visitors.

During an intermission in carnival activities Delta Tau Delta fraternity held its annual homecoming serenade in front of Lindley Hall.

Cleveland Clubs Sponsor Big "Doings" for Football Weekend

The largest football "migration" ever to follow a Bobcat team left Athens on the weekend of Nov. 9, via thumb, auto, and special train, for Cleveland and the annual Western Reserve-Ohio U. grid fight.

Six hundred student and 350 non-student tickets for the game were sold in Athens before the supply was exhausted, and many migrators had to wait until they reached the lake-side metropolis before obtaining their entrance credentials.

In Cleveland, everything had been made ready for their reception by a committee representing the O. U. Mothers' Club, the O. U. Woman's Club, and the Bobcat Club. A police department permit for a parade down Euclid Avenue, hotel reservations for the band and the majorettes, and a special Ohio University luncheon, had been arranged for the forenoon.

In the evening the committee's program, held at the Statler Hotel, included an informal reception, at which Dean of Men Laurence W. Lange was the principal campus guest, and a band concert, followed by dancing to the music of Bob Pettay's Orchestra, in the Statler ballroom. More than 300 couples were present for the dance.

Despite the loss of the game to a strong Reserve eleven, the spirit of the visiting Ohioans was not dampened, and, as numerous reports indicate, Cleveland was decidedly, and withal, agreeably, Ohio U. conscious before the day's end.

Members of the Bobcat Club committee, which initiated plans for the royal entertainment of the campus visitors, were Dan Gutter, '37; Lyle T. Eby, '38; Frank K. Drake, '29; H. J. Dickerson, '11; and C. F. Sharp, '12, chairman. Cooperating with them were the Ohio University Mothers, headed by Mrs. Herbert C.

Paulus, and the Ohio University Women, whose president is Miss Marian Whitesey, '18.

The splendid group of mothers, whose 16 charter members are pictured on this page, represent, for the most part, Lakewood and the western area of Cleveland. So enthusiastic are they for their organization, however, that they expect soon to "organize" the entire Greater Cleveland district.

One of the first activities of the Mothers' Club was the sponsoring of a rummage sale, on Nov. 7, which netted them a profit of approximately eighty dollars.

In the picture: Seated—Mrs. Bert D. Boyd, Mrs. H. J. Dickerson, Mrs. George Reid, Mrs. Herbert Paulus, and Mrs. Arthur Axx. Standing—Mrs. E. E. Dunham, Mrs. Frank Hart, Mrs. H. L. Fichtelman, Mrs. A. P. McGrath, Mrs. Ernest Freund, Mrs. George Shindledecker, Mrs. C. F. Below, Mrs. Anne M. Faye, Mrs. Fred Blankner, Mrs. F. G. Ortner, and Mrs. O. G. Journay.

The Bobcat Club's third monthly meeting of the new year, held at the Fischer-Rohr restaurant, Oct. 28, was featured by the presence of Dean E. W. Chubb and Dr. W. B. Bentley, retired members of the Ohio University faculty. These men were given a cordial welcome, following which they addressed the group in reminiscent veins.

The showing of football movies by the Alumni Secretary was followed by the annual election of officers and the appointment of the committee for the forth-coming dance on Nov. 9. It was announced that B. T. Grover, '19, Ohio University's Director of Public Relations, would be the November speaker, on the twenty-fifth.

The new officers: President, Dr. O. L. Dustheimer, '13; vice-president, Dan Wertman, '39; secretary, Clarence H. Hudson, '27; and treasurer, George M. Brown, '31.

The Woman's Club schedule calls for a luncheon at Higbee's, Dec. 14, to be followed by a Christmas program presented by the junior alumnae. Reservations should be sent to the secretary, Mrs. George Forbes (Justine Krejci, '34), 17131 Frank-

Don McVay Elected President of Ohio Farmer's Insurance Company

Friends of Don McVay, '15, will be pleased to know of his recent advancement from the vice-presidency to the presidency of the Ohio Farmer's Insurance Co., a 92-year-old organization with assets in excess of $5,000,000 and business licenses in 24 states and British Columbia, in Canada. The home office is in LeRoy, Ohio. His new responsibilities also include the presidency of the Ohio Farmer's Indemnity Co., a subsidiary organization.

President McVay (see cut, page 12), is a native Athenian. After participation in the World War he entered the Ohio State University Law School. He was admitted to the Ohio bar in 1917, and practices law in Columbus until 1922, when he became assistant counsel for the Ohio Farmer's Insurance Co. He was made general counsel in 1926, and vice-president in 1938.

Mr. McVay is a member of the International Association of Insurance Counsel, Phi Delta Theta and Phi Delta Phi fraternities, and is a Life Member of the Ohio University Alumni Association. He married Miss Ethel Beckley, '15, 2-yr., Athens, in 1918.

A "Sing and Sandwich" program, with Bobcat Club members as guests, will be held at the Cleveland YMCA, Feb. 15.

English Teachers Are Old Friends---Mortons Visit Australia---W. F. Copeland on Cover

THE EDITOR is indebted to Mrs. William C. Munds (Catherine Chubb, '18), Corpus Christ, Texas, for the accompanying picture of her father, Dr. Edwin Watts Chubb (left), a Shakesperian scholar who retired as dean of Ohio University's College of Arts and Sciences in 1936, and Dr. William Lyon Phelps, famous Yale professor, who has also recently retired. The picture was taken during the past summer in front of the golf clubhouse at Lake Chautauqua, N. Y.

The two English teachers have been friends for many years. Dean and Mrs. Chubb were entertained by Dr. Phelps in his home at New Haven last spring. Later, the Chubbs returned the courtesy at their Lake Chautauqua cottage, where their summer guests were their son-in-law and daughter, Rev. and Mrs. Munds, and their son and daughter-in-law, Edwin D. Chubb, '21, and Mrs. Chubb, Cheshire, Conn.

It is interestingly coincidental that Dr. Chubb and Dr. Phelps were born in the same year, received their A.B. degrees the same year, were married the same year, and retired at almost the same time. Evidence of the cordial friendship existing between the two men is the fact that Dr. Phelps' letters to Dean Chubb are always signed "With love, Billy."

Dean Edwin Watts Chubb and Dr. William Lyon Phelps

A NATIVE feast in Papeete, largest city on the island of Tahiti, ceremonies incident to the retirement of the governor of the American Samoan Islands, war-occasioned finger-printing at the port of entry in Australia, and a motor trip into the interior of "the land down under," were only a few of the interesting experiences of Dr. Robert L. Morton, '13, and Mrs. Morton (Jean Adams, '14) on their visit last summer to Australia and the islands of the South Pacific.

Dr. Morton, professor of education at Ohio University, and Mrs. Morton were Central and South American visitors the summer previous, going as far south as Buenos Aires, Argentina, and stopping at Rio de Janeiro, Brazil, on the return trip, where Dr. Morton attended the Eighth Biennial Congress of the World Federation of Education Association.

The 21,500-mile voyage to Australia and return was made aboard the Matson liner, S. S. Monterey, with stops in Tahiti, the Hawaiian, Fiji, and Samoan islands, and New Zealand.

In Papeete, guests of the natives sat on palm leaves strewn on the ground and ate (or pretended to eat) the roast pig and other foods which were dug by the brown fingers of the native women from a trench in the ground in which they had been cooked. Sweet potatoes, mangoes, fruits, and cocconut milk are reported to have been among the more delectable items of the menu which was served without knives, forks, or napkins.

In Sydney, Australia, the Mortons were guests of Mr. Norman Arnold, a cousin of Mrs. T. N. Hoover (Ethel Arnold, '13x), Athens.

The picture of Dr. and Mrs. Morton (see page 11) was taken near Rio de Janeiro summer before last.

SECOND in a series of front cover presentations of Ohio University alumni now serving on their alma mater's teaching staff is Dr. William Franklin Copeland, '02, professor of agriculture. Others will follow in the order of their seniority.

Dr. Copeland, brother of Prof. Charles M. Copeland, '96, who retired in 1934 as head of the University's College of Commerce, then the School of Commerce, was born in Tappan, Ohio, Aug. 16, 1872.

He attended New Hagers-town Academy at New Hagerstown, Ohio, 1891-92, and entered the preparatory department at Ohio University in 1895. After a two-year absence during which he was principal of the Tappan schools, 1897-1899, he resumed his studies at the University and graduated with a Ph.B. degree in 1902. One year later he was awarded the Ph.M. degree. On the campus he was a member of the Athenian Literary Society, Garfield Debating Club, and Beta Theta Pi fraternity.

In 1905, Dr. Copeland entered Clark University, Worcester, Mass., on a fellowship, for work which brought a Ph.D. degree in 1907. During his second year at the Eastern institution he was an instructor in botany in Clark College. Upon receipt of his doctorate he returned to Ohio University as professor of botany. In 1910, he became professor of agriculture, the rank and title he still bears.

He married Helen Reinher, '05, of Woodsfield, Ohio, a few months after her graduation. They have one child, Helen Martha, aged 17.

Dr. Copeland is a member of the Ohio Academy of Science. He has held numerous offices in the Ohio University Alumni Association, including the national presidency in 1938-1939.

Known and beloved is he by many generations of students whose "little apple butter faces" have been appearing before him in his classroom these thirty-odd years.

On and About the Campus . . .

WITH ITS hand-hewn timbers twisted by the winds of more than a century and its wrought-iron nails rusting and dropping from weathered holes, the bell tower atop Cutler Hall stands desperately in need of attention if it is to be preserved as a part of Ohio University's famous "monument to educational tradition." University carpenters are doing what they can at the present time to rehabilitate the tower, but a gift or appropriation of sizeable proportions is needed to permanently restore the venerable building and its superstructure.

THE WOOD COUNTY Board of Education and Ohio University are cooperating in the offering of an evening college program in the Parkersburg (W. Va.) Central Junior-Senior High School during the year of 1940-1941. Instruction is provided by members of the Ohio University faculty, while the Parkersburg board provides class room space, laboratory facilities, and certain items of physical equipment. Graduates of fully accredited high schools may arrange Freshman schedules that will enable them to complete one-fourth of a four-year course in the following colleges: Arts and Sciences, Commerce, Education, and Fine Arts, and of the engineering courses in the College of Applied Science.

IF YOU WOULD like to have advance notice of the offerings of the University Theatre, just address a card to Charles A. Rowan, University Theatre, Ohio University, Athens, Ohio, requesting that he place your name on his mailing list. Announcements are sent several days before each play. The Theatre's first production of the year, "What a Life," was produced on Oct. 31 and Nov. 1. The season's second offering will be James O'Neill's version of "Monte Christo," a play never before produced by an amateur group. The dates are Dec. 5 and 6.

DR. H. T. HOUF, professor of philosophy, is a member of Athens County Draft Board No. 1 which will have the duty of selecting local men for participation in the nation's preparedness program. Dr. Houf is the father of Cadet Paul Houf, '37, who was attached to the U. S. Marine Aviation Corps, San Diego, Calif., at the time of his death in an airplane crash last year.

BEGINNING next semester, Ohio University students will have an opportunity to make a practical study of the conservation of game birds under a cooperative agreement between the University and the State Division of Conservation and Natural Resources. S. S. Dietz, state supervisor of grouse management, will supervise field study, while Kenneth Mitchell, game management agent in Vinton county, will come to the University one day each week to direct laboratory study.

REPRESENTED by some of the 660 out-of-state students enrolled at Ohio University this semester are 70 communities in Pennsylvania, 56 in New Jersey, 44 in New York, 26 in West Virginia, 18 in Connecticut, 14 in Massachusetts, and 13 in Michigan. Among the out-of-state cities most numerously represented are: New York City, by 42 students; Brooklyn, 39; Parkersburg, W. Va., 21; Pittsburgh, Pa., 20; Erie, Pa., 18; Rochester, N. Y., 13; Bridgeport and New Britain, Conn., 10 each; Newark, N. J., 10; and Charleston, W. Va., 10. Twenty-five states have contributed to the population, New York State sending 175, Pennsylvania, 129, and New Jersey, 102. Two students are registered from England and one each from Panama, Argentina, and Hawaii.

THE 1940 ATHENA, campus annual, was given a first class rating by the National Scholastic Press Association. The association, rating 852 entries from high schools and colleges in 45 states, Hawaii, Alaska, and Canada, designated 120 as "All-American," the cream of the year book crop, and rated others as first, second, or third class. Arthur W. Sherman was editor, and John S. Todd, business manager of the 1940 Athena.

OHIO UNIVERSITY'S Speech Clinic, under the direction of Dr. Ruth E. Beckey, will accept any person living in the Athens area who has a defect in speech, including children with delayed speech, cleft palate speech, foreign dialect, baby talk or liping, stuttering, or any articulatory difficulties. Dr. James P. Porter, head of the department of psychology, and Dr. E. H. Hudson, director of the University Health Service, are cooperating with the Speech Clinic in any psychological or physiological examinations that may be necessary.

DURING a special Halloween dinner at Howard Hall on Oct. 31, a number of the young ladies enlivened the party by throwing water at each other. Penalty: Loss of dessert for all.

IN A PRE-ELECTION poll participated in by 1,718 Ohio University students, Wendell L. Willkie was preferred for president by 1,101 students, while Franklin D. Roosevelt polled the remaining 619 votes. As the November 5 election proved, however, the Republican leaning on the Ohio University campus was not typical of the country as a whole.

AL KAVELIN and his "Cascading Chords" orchestra provided the music for the fourth annual Military Ball in the Men's Gym, Nov. 16. During the evening, Miss Eleanor Schulz won the coveted title of Honorary Colonel of the ROTC as a result of a popular ballot. Miss Schulz succeeds Virginia Pride, Glouster, in the honorary post. The new colonel was presented in a colorful ceremony climaxed by the traditional march under an arch of sabers.

UPON THE recommendation of the campus publications advisory board, the Campus Affairs Committee has indefinitely suspended publication of "The Ohioan," monthly humor magazine. Lack of financial support and the recent resignations of members of the editorial staff, were given as reasons for the suspension.

THE OFFICIAL name of the Students' Union Building, once known as the Men's Union, is now the "Student Center Building." The building contains the student grill, a ball room, recreation rooms, publications offices, and a women's lounge. In the picture in the center of the page are two popular seniors, "Trudy" Dickerson, Lakewood, and Bill Rose, Marietta, enjoying an exchange of snappy, campus repartee in the grill room.

REGISTRAR F. B. Dilley has announced that 3,497 students have enrolled for the current semester. This represents an increase of 190 students over the corresponding period last year. There are 1,209 students in the Freshman class, of whom 60 per cent are men. University College is naturally the largest of the individual colleges, with an enrollment of 1,527. Totals for the other colleges are: Education, 558; Arts and Sciences, 504; Commerce, 490; Applied Science, 233; and Fine Arts, 84. The special students, graduate students, and auditors total 174. Cuyahoga county again leads the county units with a representation of 491 students. Athens county is next, with 434; while Mahoning county is third, with 106.

AMONG THE individuals and organizations which have appeared this fall in Alumni Memorial Auditorium are Dr. Paul W. Harrison, a surgeon in Arabia; Dr. Walter R. Brown, author and lecturer; Dr. Albert Wiggam, lecturer and eugenics expert; Will Durant, philosopher; Edward B. Hitchcock, foreign newspaper correspondent; Wings Over Jordan, a radio chorus of 35 voices; and the Don Cossack chorus, world-famed choral group composed of former officers of the Russian imperial army.

MRS. SARA Long Jones, '24, supervisor of off-campus housing, has just issued a scholarship report which, she says, "disproves educators' beliefs that students scattered in town units are unable to study as effectively as students centered in their own college problems course at a later date.

"CAMPUS shutterbugs will click-fest this Saturday afternoon on the Athena's annual camera hike, second such photo jam-session. Anybody with a camera and film is welcome. Models will be furnished from modern dance classes, and other props will be lent by the 1941 Athena." So runs a notice in a recent issue of the Ohio University Post. As elsewhere over the country, interest in the photographic art has reached a high peak on the campus.

THE ANNUAL fall election of Phi Beta Kappa, for undergraduates only, resulted in the honoring of eight seniors—six women and two men. The new members: Maxine Kent, Jackson; Theresa Fuetterer, Cuyahoga Falls; Margaret Earnhart, Norwalk; Martha Jones, Athens; Marie Davis, Oak Hill; Norma Kutler, Cleveland; Donald Druedow, Cambridge; and Oscar Ibele, Euclid. Miss Kent has a straight "A" average.

SIX HUNDRED ROTC men participated in a formal review, Nov. 19, before President H. G. James on the drill field east of Ohio Stadium. The program included individual drill by first year basic students demonstrating the manual of arms, steps, and marching; cadence drill by one squad from each company; volley firing, squad by squad; platoon drill; and a special demonstration by the Pershing Rifles. Promotions, effective Oct. 30, have been announced as follows: John E. Durst, Dayton, captain to cadet colonel; and John A. Lockard, Athens, Robert P. Zeigler, Strasburg, Cletus E. McPherson, Athens, and C. Stuart Whitcomb, Painesville, from captains to cadet lieutenant colonels.

FOR THE second consecutive year, Zeta Tau Alpha sorority will bring a musical production to the campus as a part of a nation-wide effort to bring culture to grade school children. Last year the ballet, "Pinocchio," was presented before a crowd of youngsters that packed Alumni Memorial Auditorium. This year's offering, produced by Junior Programs, Inc., is Rimsky-Korsakoff's opera "The Bumble Bee Prince."

Campus Camaraderie in a Grill Booth

trated in dormitories. The figures for last semester show that the neighborhood housing units, with three to four women per home, topped all other women's residence units with a scholastic average of 1.563. The average for dormitories was 1.538, with the all-women's average standing at 1.492. Sorority residents trailed with average records of 1.458. Of the dormitories, Boyd, Howard, and Lindley had ratings in the order named.

FIVE FRESHMEN co-eds, under the leadership of Senior Doris Killinen, Fairport Harbor, vice-president of the Women's League, bravely ventured before approximately 700 first year men in a college problems class recently, to give the boys a general idea of what a girl expects on a date. At the end of an hour, the chastened men demanded an opportunity to appear before the girls

Seventeenth Peden-Coached Grid Team Nears End of Successful Season With One Defeat

CLIMACTIC in at least two respects was the Ohio-Furman grid contest at Ohio Stadium on October 19. First, it was the "big" game of the home season. Second, it resulted in the Bobcats' 100th victory for their mentor, Don C. Peden, during his coaching career at Ohio University.

As intimated elsewhere, the Bobcats were faced with a twelve-man opposition; eleven Furman stalwarts plus an aggressive and nasty-dispositioned weatherman, but the boys refused to be daunted, and gave their coach and their 8,000 Homecoming Day admirers a 15 to 6 victory.

Not since Wittenberg rolled up a 28-0 victory in 1927, on the old Ohio field, has an Ohio University football team lost a homecoming game. In the 13-game stretch, the Bobcats have won 12 games and tied one. The Cincinnati Bearcats succeeded in holding Ohio to a scoreless tie in 1934.

The Ohioans were in unquestioned command during the first half of the Furman game, during which all of their points—two touchdowns, a conversion point, and a safety—were scored. During the remainder of the game they were content to go on the defensive and permit their Southern guests to "get theirs if they could." In the fading moments of the contest the Hurricane pushed over a touchdown, but failed to make the extra point. It was just a gallant gesture by a beaten team. As in almost every game this year and last, features of the contest was the uncanny accuracy with which the Bobcats' All-Ohio Danny Risaliti booted his kicks out-of-bounds deep in enemy territory. Last year's brilliant record as a successful pass hurler has not been maintained by the Canton quarterback, but whatever retrogression there may have been in that phase of his work has been overshadowed by the wizardry of his punting, which has been at once the admiration and despair of every opponent.

Other stellar backfield performers in the homecoming classic were Jim Snyder and Bill Heinz. Words of praise were merited generally by the men on the line, but particularly deserving was little Andy Szalay, diminutive center from Toledo, whose fine defensive work has attracted attention all season.

In the center of the page is a picture of Phi Kappa Tau's entry in the Homecoming Day float parade. Mounted on a truck are two power-line poles with transformers and other typical equipment. Two belted workmen are seeing to it that there is no interruption of the flow of "juice." On the sides of the float is the legend, "More Power to Peden."

Preceding the homecoming event, and hitherto unreported, was the meeting of the Bobcats and the Broncos of Western State (Michigan) Teachers College in Ohio Stadium on Oct. 12.

Handicapped by repeated fumbling, but equal to the occasion, the Ohioans sent the Kalamazoo boys home with a 20 to 7 scratch on the Bronco escutcheon. The hapless Broncos were outclassed in every department and threatened the Green and White goal line but twice. On the first occasion they were repulsed, but in the last quarter Western halfback Bob Metzger ran 90 yards through a field of sluggish Bobcat tacklers for the visitors' lone touchdown.

The superiority of the home team is reflected in the game's statistics which show that the Bobcats made 16 first downs to Western State's two, and that the former were credited with 307 yards gained from scrimmage to the latter's 48 yards picked up by the same method. The yards acquired by passing were 58 to 24 in favor of the winners. It was the second meeting of the two teams. Western State was a probationary member of the Buckeye Conference at the time of the league's dissolution.

Undefeated, but tied, 7-7, by Butler, the Bobcats invaded the sacred precincts of Ohio Wesleyan's Battling Bishops, Oct. 26, for the 24th meeting of the two teams. On the preceding Saturday the Pedenmen had successfully striven, before the homecoming crowd, to produce their 100th victory for their coach. At Delaware, they faced a parallel situation: the Bishops, before their own homecomers, were endeavoring to chalk up their one hundredth win for Coach George Gauthier, and defending a bright record of only four losses in 19 consecutive homecoming games.

In this "traditional" game previous records have no significance; nothing counting but the strength and courage of the players at the moment. Such was the case this year. A battle royal was staged as the two teams pushed each other around for 60 minutes with neither being able to score. Each team had one real scoring chance during the game and in each case the opportunity died with the failure of an attempted field goal. The defensive performances of each squad were superior to their offensive efforts. The final statistics proved that the game was in fact, as in score, a draw.

Easier going was encountered in the Ohio-Miami game, Nov. 2, the eighteenth meeting of the two teams, when the Bobcats spoiled a Miami homecoming by licking the Redskins, 27 to 0. A decided improvement in the Ohio offense contributed much to the success of the Bobcat efforts. It was a red letter day for the substitutes who saw considerable service during the contest.

Phi Kappa Tau Say "More Power to Peden"

Not until the Pedemmen met Coach Bill Edwards' stocky Western Reserve eleven in a game at League Park, Cleveland, on Nov. 7, were they forced to completely lower their colors. This time, however, the opposing force was successful, and the hardest-fought game, to that date, ended 6-0 in favor of Reserve.

Dick Booth, Red Cat half, was the biggest thorn in Bobcat hides; this speedy, hard-driving player scoring the game's lone touchdown and accounting for a major portion of the yards gained by his team. Too much praise cannot be given his backfield colleagues, however, for their helpful blocking.

Ohio held the upper hand during the first quarter, and kept Reserve deep in its own bailiwick. A discouraging and, to the Ohio viewpoint, a wholly unwarranted decision on a pass play checked a goalward drive early in the game and seems, in retrospect, to have been a turning point in the Bobcat fortunes. Be that as it may, the entry of Booth in the Reserve line-up at this point was an indisputable factor in the pick-up in morale and effectiveness of the Red Cat gridders. It is fair to add that the second-half loss of Jim Snyder, due to a knee injury, and the ineffectiveness of Johnny Zahrdt, an ace passer-receiver, due to a broken finger, did nothing to help the Ohioans cope with the up-surge of Reserve power.

Ohio's record "migration day" following was naturally disappointed at the outcome of the game, but was by no means ashamed of the performance of their favorites. A continuation of the Ohio-Reserve series is ardently hoped for by all northern Ohio alumni.

Bouncing back from their first defeat, the Bobcats dug in against the Dayton Flyers, who were riding the crest of a five-game winning streak, and won by a much more decisive margin than the score indicates. Favored by the odds to win, Dayton was no match for the determined boys from the banks of the Hock Hocking.

With the conquest of the Flyers, 7 to 0, Nov. 16, in the Gem City, the Bobcats have faced all but one of their opponents for the current year. The remaining battle—and it will be a battle—will be staged in Cincinnati Thanksgiving Day, with the Xavier University Musketeers seeking revenge for the 20-0 shellacking they received at Bobcat hands last year.

The record to date—five victories, one defeat, and two ties—already insures a successful season for the Bobcats. It also enables Ohio fans to point with pride to the fact that Coach Don Peden's teams have never experienced a losing season in the 17 years under his leadership.

SIX SENIORS, Frank Baumholtz, Midvale; Jim Snyder, Canton; Harry McSherry, Sharon; Ray Blickensderfer, Gnadenhuetten; and Carl Ott and Verne Demzer, Hamilton, will compose a potent nucleus of a 16-player basketball squad which will buckle down to practice, under the direction of Coach Bill Trautwein, just as soon as the Thanksgiving holidays are over. Washington and Jefferson, Kentucky State, and Evansville College are the only out-of-state teams to be met on a 19-game schedule.

A BOBCAT Freshman team, playing its first game against another school in more than 20 years, trounced an Ohio Wesleyan yearling team, Nov. 8, by a score of 13 to 0.

Here and There Among the Alumni

EDWARD R. AMES, one of the three great bishops of the Methodist Church educated at Ohio University, (a fourth was born in Athens was the grandson of a chaplain in Washington's army who died at Valley Forge. He was the son of Sylvanus Ames, who located in Athens County in 1797 and for whom the village of Amesville was named. Sylvanus was one of the early trustees of Ohio University. As a youth, Edward made good use of the famous "Coonskin Library," perhaps the first public circulating library in the Northwest Territory, the books of which were purchased with the proceeds of the sale of coonskins sent to Boston. The books were returned over the mountains in saddle bags. Bishop Ames attended the University for three years between 1820 and 1830. He was licensed to preach in the latter year, and was made bishop in 1852. He served as a chaplain during the Civil War, and died, in 1879, at the age of 73, in Baltimore, Md., where he had been resident bishop for many years.

LOUISE DANA, '10x, daughter of JOHN P. DANA, '67, niece of EMMA K. DANA, '79, granddaughter of Captain Joseph M. Dana, trustee of Ohio University, 1851-1881; great-granddaughter of Joseph Dana, professor of ancient languages, Ohio University, 1819-1835; and a cousin in some remote degree, of another Joseph Dana, one of Ohio University's earliest graduates, has recently accompanied her mother to St. Cloud, Fla., where they will remain for the winter. Miss Dana, a commercial artist in New York City for many years, was a protegee of Neysa Me-Mein.

LOUISE PRICE, '12, who received her Ph. D. at Columbia University last June, is now a member of the Columbia teaching staff in the personnel and guidance department. She was formerly a woman's advisor at Stanford University, Palo Alto, California.

From LT. COL. RALPH C. KENNEY, '12, a CCC camp commander at Kingman, Ariz., comes word of the death of Mrs. Kenney early this year. Colonel Kenney is the father of Robert Kenney, an Ohio University sophomore.

DR. LENORE SPRAGUE STACK, '18, Athens dentist, was stricken with a serious heart attack late in September. Her condition is now sufficiently improved that she has been returned to her home from Athens' Sheltering Arms Hospital. Her brother, DR. LINDLEY V. SPRAGUE, '21, physician and surgeon at Madison, Wis., came to Athens to serve as a consultant during the more critical period of his sister's illness.

FLORENCE MIESSE, '12, 2-yr., a highly successful sales representative of the B & C Baking Co., of Dayton, (fruit cakes are her specialty) is going to take time out from her activities for a two-months' vacation in Florida after Christmas: Here are envious good wishes, Miss Miesse.

Last month the editor reported the return of C. J. BASSLER, '13, 2-yr., and Mrs. Bassler (FAYE ELLIOTT, '13, 2-yr.) to the United States from a sojourn in Sweden. Meanwhile, a letter has been received from Mr. Bassler which states, "We returned from Scandinavia, April 15, on the very last boat leaving Bergen, Norway, the day before the Germans invaded the country. . . . It looked mighty good to me — that Statue of Liberty."

DR. T. R. BIDDLE, '91, Athens coal operator, bank president, and Ohio University board chairman, has recovered from a recent illness which necessitated a period of treatment and rest in an Eastern hospital. Dr. Biddle received an M. D. degree from the Medical College of Ohio, Cincinnati, in 1892, and practiced medicine in Athens for ten years. He first engaged in the coal business in 1902. He was appointed to the board of trustees of Ohio University in 1900, and is now its oldest member. Vigorous for his years, Dr. Biddle will observe the 77th anniversary of his birth on November 27.

H. H. BEESON, husband of the former ALICE HENRY, '18, and promotion manager for the G. A. Boeckling Company, operators of Cedar Point, on Lake Erie, died at the Heinz Veterans' Hospital, near Chicago, Aug. 13, 1940, following a three-weeks' illness. Mrs. Beeson is a sister of Mrs. R. W. Finsterwald (LUCILLE HENRY, '17), Athens.

A report, without particulars, tells of the death of EUGENE "CHINK" RUST, '19x, at Bristol, Pa., by drowning. Rust, a World War officer and aviator, was employed in an airplane factory in Bristol. He is survived by his wife, now living in Pittsburgh, and their son, Charles, aged about 20 years.

THOMAS K. OWENS, '19x, superintendent of the Jackson schools, newly-elected president of the Southeastern Ohio Teachers Association, and husband of the former RUTH PIERCE, '29, is president of the Southern Ohio Eisteddfod Association, sponsor of the famous Welsh music festival held annually in the Jackson county metropolis. The village of Oak Hill, with a population which is 99% Welsh, was the scene of the first Eisteddfod in Ohio. The contests were held in a large tent during the early years, but now competitions take place in the large auditorium in Jackson. MERRILL DAVIS, '33, is chairman of the music committee of the Association.

After 47 years of teaching in the first grade of the Beaver public schools, MARGARET BUTCHER, '21, 2-yr., has retired from the active following of her profession. Many, doubtless, are the residents of Beaver and elsewhere who will honor her for her kindly ministrations throughout nearly a half century of class room teaching. Flowers to the living are always in order.

DR. THERON H. MORGAN, '22x, Athens physician and surgeon, was admitted to the American College of Surgeons at formal induction ceremonies in Chicago on Oct. 24. This honorary organization is composed of surgeons from the United States, Canada, Hawaii, China, and the Latin American countries. Dr. Morgan, husband of the late MARY VIRGINIA CROW MORGAN, '22, is a graduate of the Medical College of George Washington University, Washington, D. C., and served his internship at Henry Ford Hospital, Detroit.

Mrs. Mark Cowen (EMMA HELSEL, '22) Roanoke, Va., like her husband, MARK K. COWEN, '22, city director of parks and recreation, is a busy and civic-minded person. Mrs. Cowen's most recent responsibility has been the presidency of the Roanoke branch of the American Association of University Women.

While attending, as director for the Southeastern district, the state convention of the Ohio Congress of Parents and Teachers, in Cincinnati last month, Mrs. LORIN C. STAATS (ESTHER KENNEY, '24) was called from her room to the hotel lobby by a lady who desired to speak to her. The caller, who had observed that Mrs. Staats had registered from Athens, proved to be Miss Elizabeth Starr, of Cincinnati, a granddaughter of President Solomon Howard, Ohio University's sixth president. Miss Starr wanted to know about the University and about Howard Hall, which was named for her grandfather. President Howard served as the University's chief executive from 1862 to 1872. Miss Starr, who has never visited the University, expressed a desire to become better acquainted with the school at an early date.

LOIS CECIL, '25, resigned her position this fall as music supervisor in the Racine schools, which she has held for eight years, to take a similar position in the Middleport schools.

ROY T. HICKMAN, '26, superintendent of the Ames-Bern school district in Athens county for the past two years, resigned in August to accept appointment as head of the geography department of Concord State Teachers College, Athens, W. Va.

He was succeeded in the Athens county position by EARL M. WOOD, '32 (A.M. '38). Mr. Hickman has had 18 years of teaching and administrative experience. He received his doctorate at Clark University, Worcester, Mass. Mr. Wood is the husband of ESTHER WELLS WOOD, '33.

DR. JOE B. STOCKLIN, '27, has been named medical director of the new Cuyahoga county dispensary for the treatment of victims of tuberculosis. He is a graduate of the Western Reserve Medical School. His marriage to a Cleveland girl is reported to be an event of the near future.

You have often said to yourself, "It's a small world," and so it is. ERELL GREENLEE, '28, who has been a teacher in the government schools of Alaska for the last 11 years, sent the Alumni Secretary an air-mail communication to tell of an unplanned Ohio University reunion in which she was a very happy participant aboard an Alaska-bound steamer late this summer. The other members of the Ohio group were President and Mrs. Herman G. James, of the University; DR. WINIFRED B. RICHMOND, '10, Washington, D. C.; and MRS. BERTHA LIVELY ELLINGER, '17, Salt Lake City, Utah. All except Miss Greenlee were on a vacation cruise; she was returning to her work in Nome. Miss Greenlee has previously taught in Hoonah, Belkofsky, Haines, and Sleatmute. Mrs. Ellinger, formerly a grade supervisor in the government's Indian schools at Gallup, New Mexico, is now an associate district supervisor of Indian education, with headquarters in Salt Lake City. Dr. Richmond, chief psychologist of St. Elizabeth's (government) Hospital, Washington, D. C., was "loaned" last summer to the Indian Service to teach in one of its summer schools for teachers-in-service at Chenawa, Oregon.

The presidencies of four major women's organizations in Akron and its twin city, Cuyahoga Falls, are currently held by Ohio University alumnae. INEZ CLINGER, '29, has the unique distinction of holding the presidency of the Akron Teachers Association. It is the first time that a woman has been honored with the leadership of this group. She is a teacher in Crosby School. HELEN BATTRICK, '18, adviser of women, University of Akron, is president of the Akron branch of the American Association of University Women. Mrs. Charles F. Brunner (HEL-EN SKINNER, '24), is regent of the Cuyahoga Falls chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She succeeded Mrs. Cleo H. Willis (MAY MAYNARD, '15, 2-yr.) in this position. Mrs. John M. Williams (MARY FULTON, '19) is president of the newly-organized Woman's Society for Christian Service in the First Methodist Church of Cuyahoga Falls.

CLIFFORD J. MORIARTY, '29, an examiner, in Cincinnati, for the State Tax Commission, was a June graduate of the night law school of the Cincinnati Y.M.C.A.

Readers of the Science section of the Sept. 9 issue of Life magazine were doubtless intrigued by the unusual pictures of an apparatus used in the study of the effect of brain operations on behavior, but they may have failed to recognize the DR. WARD HALSTEAD referred to, as an Ohio University alumnus. This physiological psychologist of the University of Chicago is, however, a member of the class of 1931. In describing his experiments and his laboratory, Life says: "Here the subject sits in total darkness, strapped in a converted barber chair, head pinned in a metal brace, with carbonophones blotting out hearing and electrodes recording every flicker of the eye. With the subject's attention riveted on the projection screen in front, it is possible to take exact quantitative measure of facts of perception, discrimination, and concentration."

CARL E. "HUMP" CAMPBELL, '32, who has been teaching and coaching in the high school at Buchtel since graduation, is this year a member of the high school teaching staff at Nelsonville. "Hump" won his varsity letter at Ohio University in basketball.

Unofficial election returns indicate that DELBERT E. NIXON, '33, will be one of Jefferson county's two representatives in the Ohio State Legislature during the next biennium. Delbert, a resident of Stafford and an instructor in the local high school, will not be a neophyte in the General Assembly, having served a term previously. He is expected to give up his teaching position in order to join his law making colleagues on January 1, 1941. Nixon is a Democrat.

Sgt. M. A. "PETE" MOCK, '34x, of Ohio's state highway patrol, who was awarded the 1940 O. W. Merrell meritorious service award, attended Ohio University from 1930 to 1932. The award is given each year to the officer performing the most outstanding service. The honor was bestowed this year in recognition of Mock's participation in the capture, in Columbiana county, of a Detroit and New York gangster and of the capture of an ex-convict wanted for bank robbery and safe cracking. Both men, heavily armed, were regarded by police officers as desperate criminals.

The fall meeting of the Ohio chapter of the American Association of Teachers of French was held at the University of Cincinnati on Nov. 9 and was presided over by Dr. Mary T. Noss, professor of French at Ohio University, who is president of the state organization. The state secretary-treasurer is FRED L. PRESTON, '34, an instructor in

Dr. and Mrs. Robert L. Morton

Athens High School. RUTH MILLER, '26, an instructor in Gallia Academy High School, Gallipolis, addressed the association on "The French Five Hundred at Gallipolis."

DR. VIRGIL CROSS, '35, who graduated from the Ohio State University College of Medicine in June, has entered upon a two-year internship in City Hospital, on New York City's Welfare Island.

After completing his internship at Charity Hospital, New Orleans, one of the largest hospitals in the United States, ROBERT S. SUGLEY, '35, has entered upon a senior internship in obstetrics and surgery at University Hospital, Columbus. He is an honor graduate of the Harvard Medical School. DR. JOSEPH E. WHARTON, '36, is now interning in the new Charity Hospital, New Orleans.

JOHN R. WHITING, '36, who has been associated in an editorial capacity with a number of Eastern publications, including the now discontinued Literary Digest, is a member of the editorial staff and one of the principal writers for Chick, a pictorial magazine published in Philadelphia.

PAUL J. DESIO, '36 (A.M. '37), a part-time instructor in Spanish at Ohio University, 1937-39, is now a member of the band of the 192nd Field Artillery, a unit of the Connecticut National Guard stationed at Fort Adams, Conn.

Four former Bobcat grid stars are performing in professional football circles this fall. ART LEWIS, '36, one of the stand-out tackles in Bobcat history, is a player and assistant coach with the Cleveland Rams. Also on the Cleveland eleven is CHET ADAMS, '39, who is recognized as one of the leading tackles in pro ranks, and LEN JANIAK, '40, who last year was in the backfield of the Brooklyn Dodgers. BOB SNYDER, '39, is back with the Chicago Bears at a halfback post. Last June Snyder had an unenviable experience when, with three other Toledoans, he spent 18 hours in a small catboat on Lake Erie following a storm in which their craft capsized. They were rescued by a lake freighter.

Richard J. Whipple (right) and Associates

FRANCES GENSLEY, '37, society editor of the Mansfield News-Journal, reports that her former colleague, JOHN McLEAN, '35x, has left that paper and is now in the printing department of the Mansfield Tire and Rubber Company. John and Mrs. McLean (RUTH IRVIN, '34) have a new daughter, Bobbie, so Frances informs us.

GLENDORA and FRANCES HARSHMAN, sisters, and members of the Class of 1937, are both associated with the public schools of their home city, Hagerstown, Md. The former is librarian of Woodland Way Jr. High School; the latter, a visiting teacher.

W. D. WELLS, '37, is located at Waterloo, N. Y., where he is district sales manager for the Hercules-Campbell Body Company, Inc., of that city. Wells' company builds all of the station wagon bodies used by Chevrolet, Hudson and Nash. It also manufactures Wayne All-Steel truck bodies for distribution in the New England States.

WILLIAM M. LEADERS, '37, a member of Ohio University's Phi Beta Kappa chapter, was graduated from the Massachusetts Institute of Technology with a Ph. D. degree on June 4. So acceptable was his work, done on a scholarship at the famed institute, that he has been retained as a member of the teaching staff.

GENEVIEVE JAMES, '38 (A.M. '40), who majored in dramatic art at Ohio University, and who did advanced work in the same field at the University of Michigan last summer, is now an instructor in dramatics at Stephens College, Columbia, Missouri. Heading her department at Stephens is Maude Adams, noted actress. Several radio scripts written by Miss James last summer were broadcast from the Detroit station, WJR. Miss James is the daughter of President H. G. James, of Ohio University, and Mrs. James.

EUGENE F. RINTA, '38, a special agent for the Federal Bureau of Investigation, formerly assigned to the New York area, is now headquartered in Cleveland. He does not write of his present activities but it is safe to assume that he is busy keeping an eye on the "fifth columnists" in his territory.

The Sesquicentennial observation of the establishment of the Westminster Foundation, national organization for the direction of student work in Presbyterian Churches, was observed, in the Athens church, by a service in which JACK MEISTER, '38, a senior at Princeton Theological Seminary, preached on the topic, "And There Shall be Light." The new director of the Westminster Foundation in the Athens Presbyterian Church is MARGARET FLORY, '36 (A.M. '38), who was instructor in speech at the Alabama State College for Women last year.

BARBARA WRIGHT, '38, returned to her position on the faculty of Harvey High School in Painesville, where her principal is H. W. MCKELVEY, '27, ROY F. GEORGE, '35, JOE T. McCULLOUGH, '31, and IRENE WARD, '39, are other Ohio University colleagues on the Harvey faculty. During a visit to the campus at registration time, Principal McKelvey reported to the Alumni Secretary that seven of his students are at present enrolled at Ohio University.

In less than a year after he was employed as a designer for the Philco Radio Company in Philadelphia, RICHARD J. WHIPPLE, '38 (M.F.A. '39), has been advanced to the position of chief designer, heading Philco's staff of six college-trained designers. The first to earn Ohio University's degree of Bachelor of Fine Arts in Painting and Allied Arts, and likewise the first to be awarded his alma mater's degree of Master of Fine Arts (incidentally the first of his kind ever given in this country), Dick has definitely proved his ability in the practical tests of his skill. Ten of Philco's new 1941 cabinet models have been made after his designs. Ohio University's requirements for the B. F. A. degree are unique in that a candidate must major in one of the three divisions of the College of Fine Arts (Painting and Allied Arts, Music, or Dramatic Arts) and minor in each of the other two, thus insuring a broad acquaintance with the so-called fine arts. In Philadelphia, Dick is a member of the Academy Players, a socially prominent Little Theatre group. He designed scale models and built the stage sets for a play, "The Woman's Fool To Be Clever," which was recently produced by the group and was televised over W3XE, Philadelphia's largest television station. In the picture on page 11 Dick, on the extreme right, is shown with some of his co-workers in a Philco drafting room.

STEPHEN C. LEVITSKY, '39, Phi Beta Kappa, is a research assistant for the Steel Workers Organizing Committee in Pittsburgh. Steve was a varsity debater and vice president of the Men's Union in his senior year. His brother, Charles, an Ohio University sophomore, is secretary of the Union this year.

PAULINE HACKBARTH, '39, A.M., Palatine, Ill., whose master's thesis was "A Partial Study of the Leisure Time Activities of Ohio University Students," is now working for a Ph. D. degree at Chicago University. In her Ohio University study Miss Hackbarth found that 64% of the girls and 52% of the boys whom she interviewed had developed no hobbies. Fifty per cent of the girls and 91% of the boys worked during the summer. She found that students' financial problems were a handicap to recreational programs. She also found that "There is a definite need for someone to assist the student who participates in no activities and the student who is in ten or twelve activities, to better prepare for life."

Happy is the news from the former MISS MARTHA RANDELL, '39. Alumni records have been brought up to date with a report of the marriage of Miss Randell to Dr. Frank C. Long, Jr., Columbus, early in the fall of 1939, and of the recent birth of a daughter, Jacquelyn. Dr. and Mrs. Long are now residents of Point Pleasant, W. Va., where the former is practicing medicine.

EDWARD H. DUNN, '39, was an Alumni Office visitor on Sept. 20 while enroute from his home in Portsmouth, Va., to St. Louis, where he has entered upon his second year as a student in the Washington University Medical School. For practical experience, as well as for financial aid, Dunn has been holding a night job in the city sanitarium in St. Louis. RANDALL CONNELLY, '37, is a senior in the Washington University Medical School this year.

LIEUT. RAYMOND SCHWENKE, '39, whose engagement to MISS Virginia Gould, daughter of Major and Mrs. M. J. Gould, Quantico, Va., was announced recently, has been sent to Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, with a contingent of U. S. Marines. Miss Gould is a student at William and Mary College, Williamsburg, Va.

DORIS SCHUPPENER, '39, Canton, is one of 31 college graduates representing 19 different colleges and universities from 10 states enrolled in the University of Pittsburgh's research bureau of retail training. The students, to be prepared for department store executive positions, spend three days each week in university classes and three days in practical work in Pittsburgh department stores.

Second Lieut. FRANK E. HOWARD, '39, Mt. Clemens, Mich., has been assigned to the 73rd Coast Artillery, which is now stationed at Fort Amador, Panama Canal Zone. His two-year assignment will date from September, 1940.

With the Class of 1940 . . .

KATHERINE HULL, first and only coed business manager of an Ohio University publication, is located in Erie, Pa., where she is advertising manager of the Erie County Press. Miss Hull's record in a similar position with the Ohio University Post, and later as business manager, is one which has been rarely equalled by her male predecessors.

WINIFRED HEALY, a "home ec" major, is teaching vocational home economics in the Chesterhill-Pennsville (Morgan county) schools.

RONALD W. VAN ORNE was called to active duty as a second lieutenant in the United States Army on Aug. 1, 1940. He is now stationed at Fort Slocum, N. Y., the army's overseas recruiting depot.

SECOND LIEUT. LESLIE E. FORMAN, McArthur, has been ordered to active duty with the Second Armored Division at Fort Benning, Ga. He was an R.O.T. C. cadet major in his senior year.

ADA GILLILAN, Torch, whose mother was chosen to be the "Honorary Mother" for the 1940 Mother's Weekend, is teaching in the Upper Arlington (Columbus) schools.

JEAN MURPHY, Alpha Gamma Delta sorority president last year, is enrolled in a private business school in Huntington, W. Va., her home.

J. WARREN MCCLURE has gone to Chicago where he is associated with the advertising department of Armour and Company, and where he is also working on a master's degree in commerce at Northwestern University, Evanston.

SOPHIE WAKIM, a native of Sidon, Syria, who attended Ohio University on an American Home Economics Association scholarship, has a teaching fellowship this year in the Nursery School of the University of Nebraska.

KATHERINE VARNER, another "home ec" major, is a graduate dietitian at Ohio University, with Boyd Hall as her culinary domain.

Katherine Hull

LEONA PICKARD, a 1940 Phi Beta, and JACK WILGMAN, associate editor of The 1940 Athena, were both awarded fellowships in English at Ohio University for the coming year.

HERBERT SIKAWITT has embarked upon a law course at Fordham University, and is doing some on-the-side work at Macy's huge department store in New York City.

DON RITTERSBAUGH, whose smiling countenance behind the dining room cashier's desk at Hotel Berry is familiar to undergrads and recent grads, will continue to occupy his hotel post while pursuing graduate work at his alma mater.

VIRGINIA CHRISTMAN, whose soprano voice has delighted many an Ohio University audience, is teaching in the Garfield Heights, Cleveland, schools. She is a member of the Singers Club of Cleveland, a 175-voice choir which appears twice each year with the Cleveland Symphony Orchestra. BETH PEARCE, another outstanding vocalist in the '40 class, is supervising vocal music in the Wauscon public schools.

Nine 1940 coeds have joined the Ohio University secretarial staff. VIRGINIA BECKER and JEANNETTE CRANMER are stenographers in the Treasurer's Office, while MARY PROPP has a similar position in the office of Registrar Dillely. RUTH FULMER has succeeded PHYLLIS DUERR, '36, as secretary to Dean William M. Young, College of Applied Science. KATHERINE HALLER is secretary to the director of the Health Service. EVELYN SIDERS is secretary in the University Elementary School. EDITH MANEGGIE, a journalism major, is secretary to the University Editor. GERTRUDE GADUS is a receptionist in the President's Office, and MARY LOU HORNSTEIN is the new NYA Coordinator.

MRS. MARGARET DUNLAP RITTER, with her little daughter, Barbara Lee, and husband, GEORGE G. RITTER, '39, are back in Mingo Junction after a summer spent in Athens at the home of Mrs. Ritter's parents, DR. H. L. DUNLAP, '12, professor of chemistry, and Mrs. Dunlap.

RUTH POWELL, whose father, mother, brother, and numerous aunts and uncles are Ohio University alumni, is a graduate assistant in physical welfare at Ohio University.

VIRGINIA MULLETT (you remember "Jinny" and the lyrical Tommy Morgan) is teaching physical education in Hayes Jr. High School, Youngstown. Tommy, still on the campus, is a senior in the College of Commerce. Virginia's mother was president last year of the Youngstown Ohio University Mothers' Club.

Winifred Healy

MARY POWELL, who graduated with honors and was one of the 21 seniors from Youngstown last year, is teaching "math" in Youngstown's Lincoln School.

JOHNNY MONTGOMERY, Little All-American gridder, who hails from Bellefontaine, has accepted a position as head coach in the high school at Groveport.

Phi Beta and Varsity Debater BARBARA NELSON is engaged in graduate work in English at Ohio State University.

DICK ENGELMAN, president of the O. U. Independents' Association and an industrial engineering major, is a graduate student at famed Massachusetts Institute of Technology, Cambridge, Mass., from which he reports that he is "really working."

Also located in Cambridge are BOB DAGGETT and RICHARD NYE, students in Harvard's Graduate School of Business Administration. Nye is the holder of an alumni club scholarship.

ALLEN KNISLEY, who received the Ross county alumni chapter recognition last year as "the outstanding Ohio University student from Ross county," was awarded a fellowship in industrial arts by his alma mater.

DEATHS

ROSE KETTERINGHAM, '32, died Sept. 6, 1940, after several years of ill health. For more than three years she was a research worker in Maternity Hospital, Cleveland, where her special interest was diabetes in pregnancy. She had published a number of papers on this subject. Miss Ketteringham was a member of Ohio University's Phi Beta Kappa chapter.

L. L. FARIS, an Ohio University student in the early 1900's, died Oct. 1, 1940, at his home in Lynchburg. He was a former clerk of the Ohio House of Representatives, secretary of the state civil service commission, and one-time head of the division of probation and parole of the state welfare department. Mr. Faris was also deputy collector of internal revenue, for the Cincinnati district, under President Wilson. Among his survivors are a daughter, Mrs. Don McDaniel (DOROTHY FARIS, '24), Alameda, Calif.; a son, LEAMAN L. FARIS, '27, Fremont; and a sister, LILLIE FARIS, '0, 2-yr., Lynchburg.

HOMER B. WOOD, '24, superintendent of the Pickerington schools, died Oct. 20, 1940, in New Orleans, La. Mr. Wood had previously headed the public schools of Fredericktown and Belle Center, and had taught in the high school at Portsmouth. He is a brother of Dr. E. R. Wood, '16, Montclair, N. J.

WILBUR D. REEVES, '17, age 49, World War veteran and a former instructor in Athens High School, died of tuberculosis July 24, 1940, at Westerville.

JAMES C. FOWLER, '94, aged 90, for 17 years deputy state supervisor of school and ministerial lands, and for 25 years superintendent of the New Lexington schools, died at his home in Columbus, Oct. 19, 1940. He had been ill for ten months. The lands over which Mr. Fowler had supervision were set aside by Congress in the early days of the Northwest Territory. Income from them was to be used for the support of schools (these were not the Ohio University lands) and churches. Burial was at New Lexington.

A report, wholly lacking in details, has brought to the Alumni Office the sad news of the death of Mrs. Arthur M. Apmann (MARGARET PROCTOR, '22), on July 14, 1939. Mrs. Apmann had been a resident of Ansonia, Conn.

LUCY F. MATHEWS, '35, died Oct. 11, 1940, at her home in Euclid. Miss Mathews was a physical education major. The announcement of her death bore an unsigned statement, "She was always an ardent Ohio U. enthusiast."

LAWRENCE E. DARBY, '36, Case Road, Elyria, was killed Feb. 24, 1940, in an automobile accident.

Mrs. H. R. Bahrman (NELLIE FULLER, '01) died at Sheltering Arms Hospital, Athens, May 18, 1940, as the direct result of a heart attack. She was the widow of HARRY R. BAHRMAN, '00, who died in 1916.

Another report, with but few details, is that of the death of J. WELDON LOUGH, '28, of cerebral hemorrhage, April 29, 1940. He was a resident of Greenfield in 1937.
